

Il nuovo governo del mondo. Ideologie, strutture, contropoteri

Friday, May 9th, 2014 - 5:00 p.m.

Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore

ASERI - Alta Scuola di Economia e Relazioni Internazionali

Via San Vittore, 18 - Milan

With

Georges Corm, Saint Joseph University, Beirut

Chair

Vittorio E. Parsi, Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore - ASERI

Discussant

Marina Calculli, University of Oxford

Georges Corm

Professor Lecturer at Saint Joseph University (Beirut), American University of Beirut, Lebanese University. Regular teaching courses on Arab Modern Political Thought, Nations and Nationalism, Development Economics, Economic history and International Financial markets. Since 2001, he has been teaching International Economic Cooperation and Financial Management of the State at Saint Joseph University and Balamand University. Prof. Corm began his career with the Lebanese Civil Service in 1963. He served first as Economist with the Ministry of Planning, then as Monetary and Financial Expert with the Ministry of Finance (Department of Central Bank Control and Coordination). In 1969, he continued his professional career in the banking sector in Lebanon, France and Algeria until 1985. From 1985 to 1998, Prof. Corm was based in Paris as an independent Economic and Financial Consultant for International institutions like the World Bank, ESCWA, UNDP, the European Commission and Arab and Lebanese institutions, as well as for private companies and banks. He has worked for these institutions in more than 15 countries.

Participation is free. Please register online at aseri.unicatt.it

Info @ info.aseri@unicatt.it - 02.7234.8310
